Add your menu

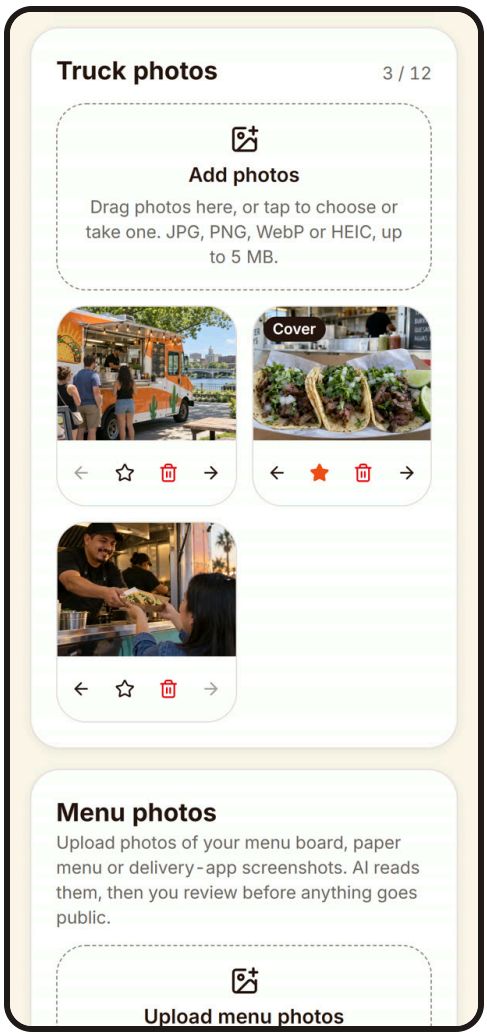

Take a photo of your menu board, let the app read it, check the items and prices, then publish.

💡 This guide follows the video step by step. Each picture shows the exact screen, with an orange circle on the spot to tap.

STEP 1

Owner dashboard → Menu photos

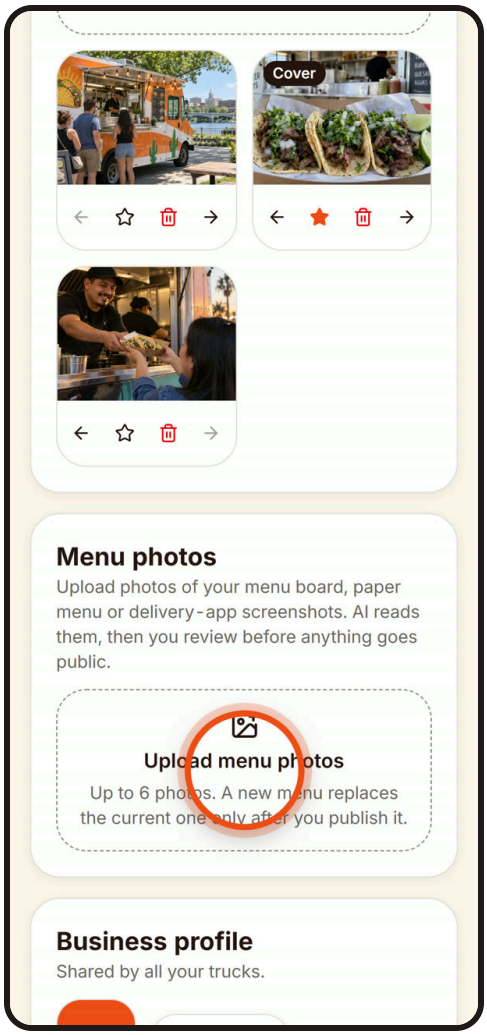

Let's add your menu. Open your owner dashboard and scroll down to the card called Menu photos. You don't type your menu — you take a picture of it.

Tap Upload menu photos → take or choose a photo

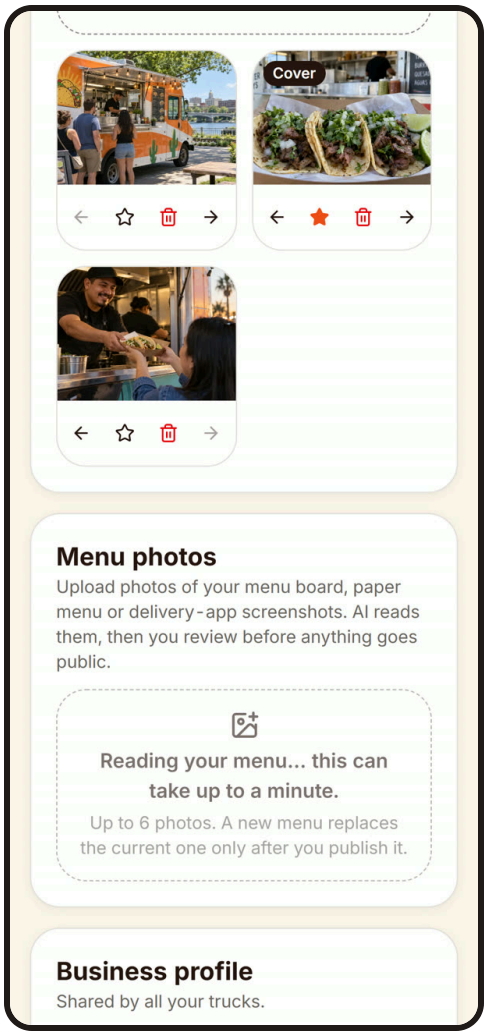

Tap the dashed box that says Upload menu photos. Your phone asks: take a photo or choose one. Take a clear, straight-on photo of your menu board or paper menu, in good light. You can add up to 6 photos at once.

STEP 3

Wait while the app reads your menu

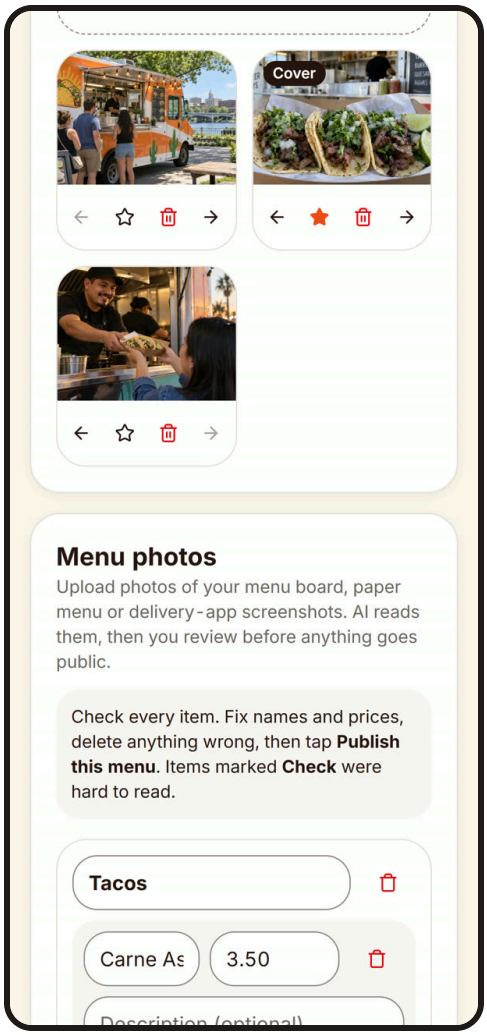

Now wait. The app reads your menu for you. This can take up to a minute — don't close the page.

STEP 4

Check every item and price

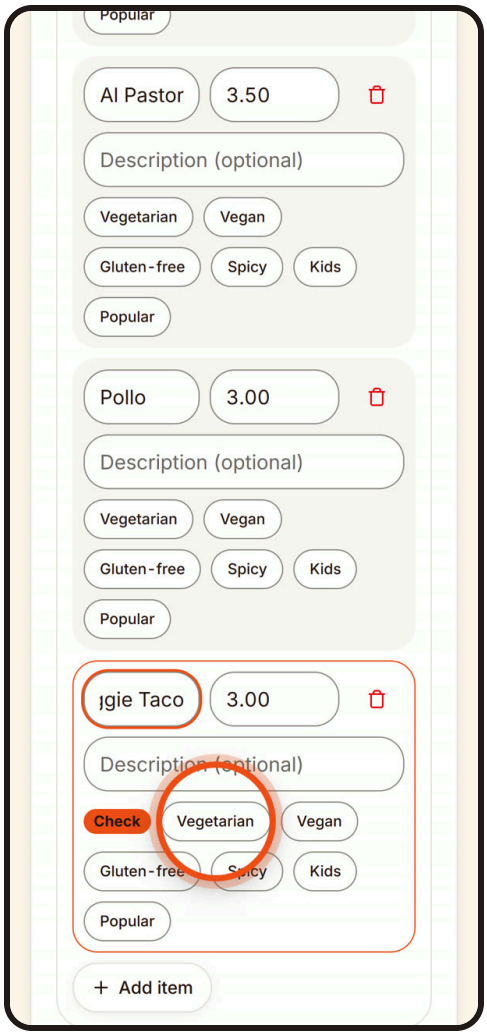

Here's what it read. Each section of your menu is a box. Inside, every item has a name and a price. Look carefully at anything with an orange Check label — those were hard to read. Tap any box to fix a name or a price.

STEP 5

Tags, delete, Add item, Add section

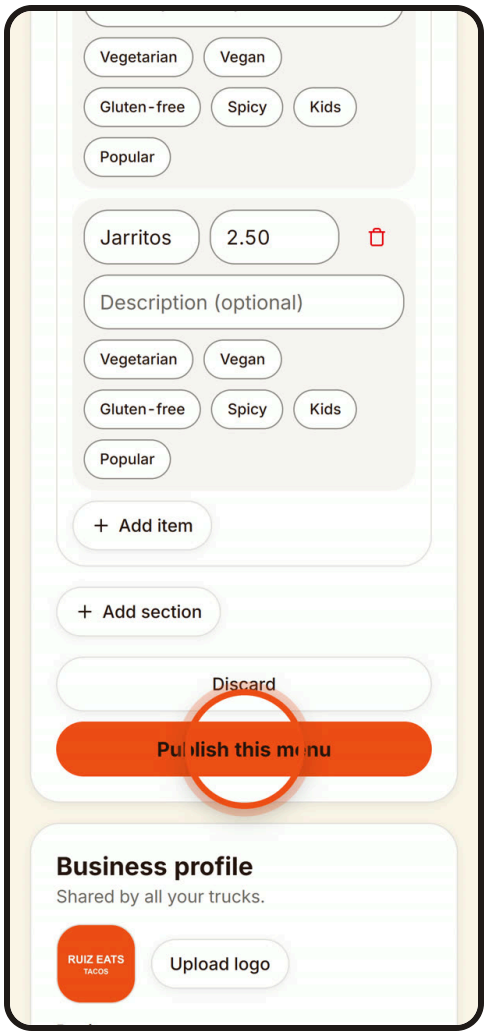

Under each item you can tap labels like Vegetarian or Spicy. The trash can removes an item. Tap Add item or Add section if something is missing.

STEP 6

Tap Publish this menu

When everything looks right, scroll down and tap the orange button, Publish this menu. Your menu is now on your public page, and customers can find your dishes when they search.

STEP 7

Updating your menu later

Changed your prices? Come back here, tap Upload a new menu, and repeat. Your old menu stays until you publish the new one. Tap Discard to throw away a draft.
